

Yarrabilba community wins big at Urban Design Awards

Yarrabilba, 25 October 2018: Lendlease's Yarrabilba community was recognised for excellence at last week's Logan Urban Design Awards (LUDA), taking out wins in three different award categories.

Yarrabilba, Logan City's highest-selling project, won the overall LUDA for its integrated environment, the Landscape Architecture & Urban Infrastructure Award for Buxton Park, and was commended in the Domestic Violence Prevention Month Initiative category for its Domestic and Family Violence Prevention Community Breakfast.

One of Yarrabilba's residential precincts, The Retreat, and adjoining Buxton Park, were also applauded by the judging panel for excellence in accessibility, planning, construction standard and physical features.

Selection criteria for the awards adopted the principle of Creating Places for People, with a focus on projects creating healthy, inclusive and social environments to benefit the community and local economy.

LUDA is a biennial event promoting excellence in the design and creation of urban environments — large and small — within the City of Logan.

Quotes attributable to Lendlease Communities Managing Director Matthew Wallace

"Our goal is to create environments which allow the community to thrive now and into the future. Since launching in 2012, Yarrabilba has raised the benchmark for master-planned living in Australia, with an emphasis on planning, community engagement, urban design, engineering, innovation and sustainability.

"All aspects of Yarrabilba are designed to integrate the natural and built environments, with a long-term focus on creating socially and community-driven amenity catering to a range of lifestyles."
